

CCCL 2.0 CHRONICLE

ISSUE 1/2.0 FOR PRIVATE CIRCULATION ONLY 11TH JULY 2024

LETTER TO WELL WISHERS FROM CHAIRMAN

We are back with bang this New Year.

We have entered into the 28th year of Inception and moving in the right direction in our CCCL 2.0 journey.

We deeply appreciate the support and encouragement given to us from the inception of our Company, which was a crawling baby at that time, to a level of reaching one of the top ten Companies in a short span of 15 years. This feat could not have been achievable without your kind hearted support and reference. It is because of your TRUST, we could achieve many of the projects, which are FIRST of its kind in the Country.

In the process of growth, we ended up in some bad contracts where, Contractual mismatches and non payment from some Clients made us to suffer in terms of valuable time and money. Many jobs went on arbitration and even though we won the same, cash flow mismatches made us to suffer in terms of our commitment to our suppliers, financial institutions, which led us to forced hibernation. Brand also got hit amongst common people due to false image created by many and surely the cause is not because of CCCL.

In spite of all difficulties, we could still achieved on order backlog of 600 Cr and we are out of our financial difficulties and also financial clutches of lenders. We are sure of taking the Company to new heights with all your support.

Mutual acceptance, support, goodwill and endeavour are the hall marks of success and we are sure we have plenty of these in our Organisation.

We are doing the re-engineering and in the process strengthen the Board and bring in senior level Managers with proper risk management.

Success is not a one shot process. Success is the result of continuous improvement after each failure. Our team determined to find out the gaps and prepares and perform better to attain noble goals through honest means and methods.

There was a perception in the last many years that we were down and out. Yes! we were down, but definitely NOT OUT. Your continued support, moral or otherwise, has kept the Company floating till today and for a foreseeable future. The strengthened Board's philosophy is to ensure works act like an Insurance to create feel good scenario that even when everything is lost, nothing is lost and this assurance will keep the Company emerge stronger and perform better.

The courage and conviction of entire CCCL family is the foundation work of victorious team.

With folded hands, I request your continuous support and encouragement.

Thanks and Regards,
R.Sarabeswar
Chairman

FROM THE ARCHIVE

From 2002 - 5th year of operations

CR NARAYANA RAO

On this happy occasion, I am happy to recall my association with Consolidated Construction Consortium Limited, Chennai ever since its inception. The jobs on which, both our organizations have worked together, have been high profile, fast track jobs requiring to be carried out to exacting International Standards. They have all been works of renowned Multi National Companies. In each of this, they have demonstrated high standards through fully co-ordinated team work. I wish them many years of growing success.

SRI SHARADA PEETHAM, SRINGERI

In our Bhojana Sala built by CCCL, with its monumental interior space, an overall spiritual effect has been created which is deeply felt and expressed by the spiritual pilgrims who throng our Sri Math at Sringeri. We are sure the same spiritual flavour which is characteristic of Sringeri will permeate the atmosphere of our Guru Bhavanam also, which is being built by them.

WELLNESS CORNER

Meditation

Meditation is a type of mind-body medicine. People have meditated for thousands of years. Those who meditate train themselves to focus on one thing, such as their breath. When the mind wanders, the practice of meditation trains the mind to return to the focus. Research has found that meditation may help lower symptoms of anxiety, stress and depression. When used with conventional medicine, meditation may improve health. Experts believe meditation has few risks. But there haven't been many studies on what harm meditation can cause. For some people, meditation might cause anxiety or depression. More study is needed.

Meditation releases tension from the body. You might feel calmer after each session. Over time, you might find yourself feeling less stressed and more relaxed overall. You might find yourself better able to handle life's events.

Meditation is a method to develop beneficial states of mind. We do this by repeatedly generating certain mental states until they become a habit. Physically, meditation has been shown to actually build up new neural pathways.

There are many different beneficial states of mind that we can develop through meditation:

- » Being more relaxed, and less stressed
- » Being more focused, and less spaced out
- » Being calmer, free of constant worries
- » Having a better understanding of ourselves and our lives, and of others
- » Having more positive emotions, like love and compassion.

Most of us do want a calmer, clearer, happier mind. If we are stressed or in a negative state, it makes us unhappy. It adversely affects our health and can ruin our career, family lives and friendships.

If we're fed up of being stressed and short-tempered, we might look for methods such as meditation to help us. Meditation enables us to overcome emotional shortcomings with no negative side effects.

The whole point of meditation is not just to feel calm, focused and loving when we're sitting on our cushion at home, but to actually affect our everyday lives. If we meditate regularly, it makes positive emotions a habit that we can apply whenever we need to, day or night. Ultimately, it becomes part of us something so natural that we're always effortlessly more loving, focused and calm.

When Roger Federer was refused entry into Wimbledon

In an episode of The Daily Show - Roger Federer narrated the incident to the host Trevor Noah.

Federer had two hours before his flight back home and decided to visit Wimbledon for a cup of tea. However, he had never been to the venue when the tournament was not being played.

When Federer reached the venue and asked a security guard about the entrance, she asked, "Do you have a membership card?"

A player automatically becomes an All England Club member upon winning Wimbledon, a feat Federer has achieved eight times.

Federer, who had no idea about membership cards, told her that he did not have one but he was a member. I still can't believe I said that because I still feel bad about it but I looked at her and said, 'I have won this tournament eight times', he said.

When he was still not allowed to enter, he got back in his car and went around to the other side where other security guards recognised him and he eventually entered the venue and met the club chairman and had tea with him.

People are respected as long as they are in power. Humility and Humbleness are hallmarks of Character.

EDITORIAL

I have great pleasure in writing this editorial,bringing back our popular " Consortium Chronicle" in its new avatar " CCCL 2.0 CHRONICLE ".

Let us all work towards making CCCL scale to new heights in its 2.0 Journey. It is apt to quote " Our greatest glory is not in never falling,but in rising every time we fall " - Confucius.

I request fellow Consortians to actively contribute titbits and articles to the forth coming issues of "CCCL 2.0 CHRONICLE ".You may mail the details to sraj@ccclindia.com.

We are also in the process of forming a Sports Club for which an active involvement of all the Consortians are requested.
